of Campus Life

by Brandie Berry

Campus life is probably the best life to experience. Those students who live on campus have the chance to meet new people and experience new things.

This gives students a chance to move away from home and maybe meet someone they will eventually marry. Some students even manage to find themselves.

Campus life at Holmes is not all about going to classes and taking tests. The Goodman Campus students enjoy playing cards and pool. Some even manage to learn and master the skills of rollerblading.

Of course, eating in the cafeteria and the canteen is a part of campus life.

One sophomore on the Goodman Campus said, "I really enjoy lunch and dinner on chicken days."

Students who live in the dorm have it made. They stay up late and talk for hours. They never have the desire to sleep.

The main task is to adapt to change. This may even mean learning to like or live with a messy roommate.

"Once you get used to the idea of living with a new person, you learn to adapt to change," stated Kizzie Eskridge, a sophomore on the Goodman Campus.

Most students on the Holmes campus think it is exciting. "I think the campus is fun and boring at the same time," said Lawanda Woodson, a freshman on the Goodman Campus, "I really like the activities."

Linda Alexander, director of student activities, works diligently to make sure our students have fun and get involved with school.

People who have not experienced campus life can not say what it is like. To really know about campus life, people must experience it for themselves.

Memories

by Robbie Mood

Holmes' students are painting those memories that will stay with them forever. Picking an overall most memorable moment would be impossible, however some students have narrowed it down and now offer their ideas for the yearbook.

For the ones I asked the question, "What is your most memorable moment here at HCC?" here are some answers.

For Shanna Trim, a freshman, it was seeing a friend laugh so hard that the friend fell off the bed to the floor and knocked her foot on the sink. Freshman April Fryer's most memorable moment was when she and her friends were doing the Macarena hanging off the bed upside down.

For sophomore Josh Carroll it was dancing in a dress in the Mess Charity Pageant.

Norma Carpenter, a sophomore, said it was when she got stuck in a hole and had to get herself out.

Members of the faculty and staff also have memorable moments.

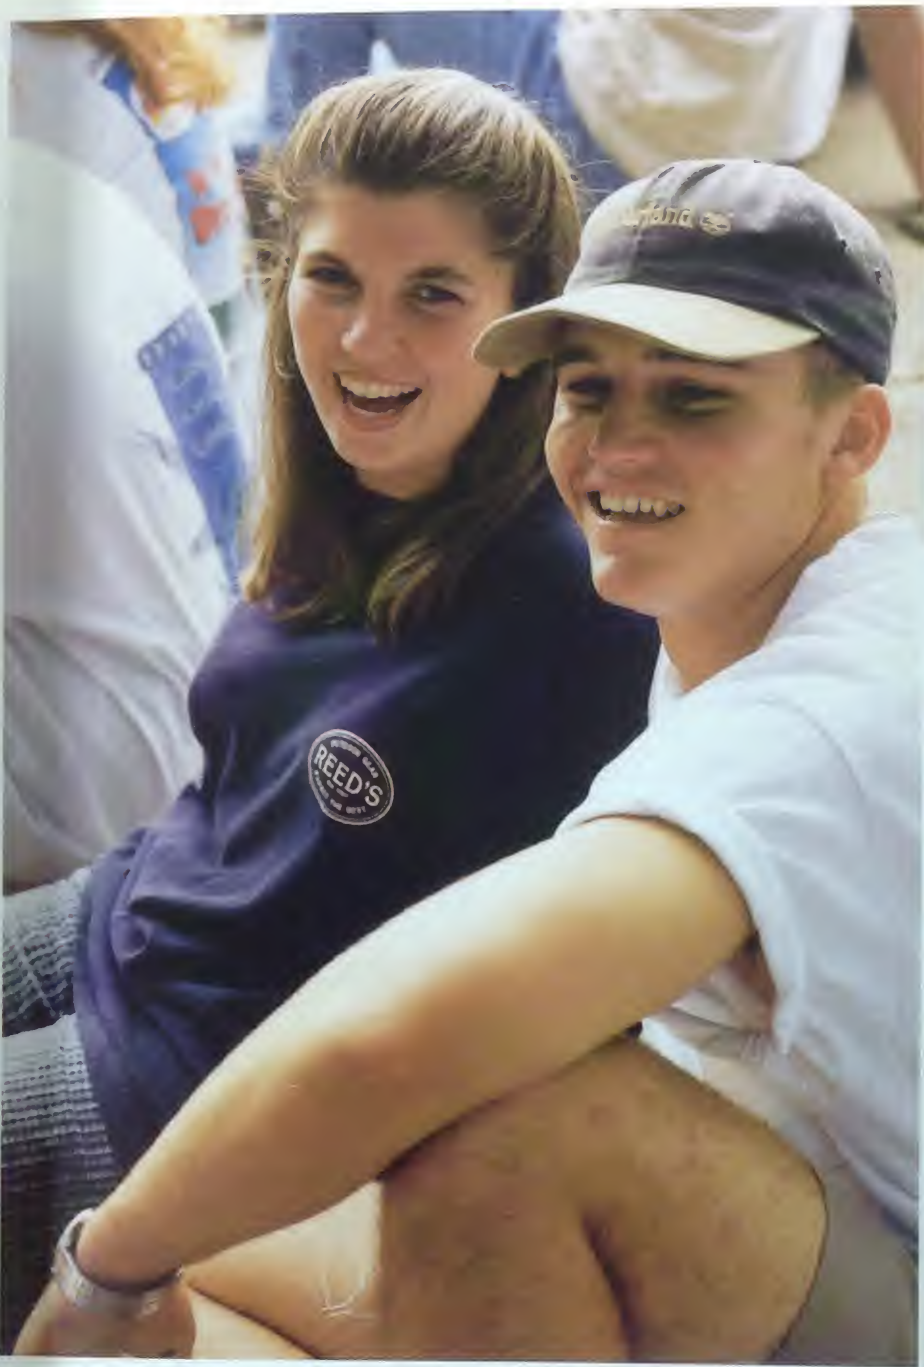

Jan Bunch, Choral Music Director, said her most memorable moment was taking the Concert Choir to Spain over spring break.

Memorable moments, such as homecoming, can involve the whole campus. Other moments may involve only a few, like a group of friends listening out of their dorm room to some students having a jam session outside.

THOUSAND Things To Do

by Amber Alexander

Although HCC is nestled in rural Holmes county, there were many things going on to keep the students busy. They were encouraged to join various clubs and organizations—or just participate in the activities these clubs sponsored for everyone.

Campus organizations assist in everything from spiritual development to leadership development—with intellectual stimulation thrown in for good measure!

Some of the activities taking place at Holmes included dances, skate nights, movie nights, various searches (a football, a pumpkin, a turkey, a Santa, a shamrock, and Easter eggs—all worth money!), Sidewalk Cafe, drama productions, and Coffeehouses. More special events included a talent show, a beauty review, the Miss Holmes pageant, and the ever popular Mess Charity Pageant sponsored by Delta Psi Omega.

For the athletically inclined, or those who just have fun trying, intramural sports are a healthy and exciting thing to be involved in. Coach Alexander Tsema provided football, basketball, volleyball, and soccer. For those who prefer to be spectators of athletic abilities, HCC students watched many hours of football, basketball, baseball, softball, tennis, and golf. Pep rallies were a real treat during the previous year—remember the faculty tug-of-war and the mud pit, those awesome Spartan cheerleaders, the crazy Olympics, and the beach party? Of course, not many college campuses can say they saw Elvis raised from the dead for a concert!

“Time flies when your having fun,” is an old saying that has been proven true this year at Holmes Community College.

More than Just WORDS

by Shawna Leonard

There are so many events that happen at Holmes during the year. Everyone is involved in different activities and has different emotions. It is hard to sum up an entire year. That is why we need more than just words. Words can't describe all the events that take place and the emotions we feel.

Most everyone has had a time in their life when words were not necessary to convey their emotions. Try reading someone's face after they have just been picked team captain, homecoming queen or just won the spirit stick.

Many friendships are created at Holmes. Many of Holmes students, both those that live in the dormitories and those who commute, develop friendships here that are really close and special.

Just words can't describe the bonds between friends.

Nearly everyone has won an award that has left them speechless. When asked if she had ever been caught off guard and left speechless, Evelyn Kelley, a freshman from Ethel, said, "Yes, when I didn't stop my car Cozmo at the stop sign by the BP station and one of the campus policemen surprised me. I was left speechless."

Although when students first come to Holmes, they may only see a small college in central Mississippi. However, they soon see all the activities, sports and other fun things to do here at Holmes.

It takes more than just words to describe all the events that took place and the emotions we felt.

A Thousand Words

by Julie Newton

Everyone, including every student and every faculty and staff member, has a part in the many different aspects of campus life at Holmes Community College.

Memories are the outcome of the different events that happen throughout the year. There are a thousand things to do at Holmes.

It takes more than just words to describe it all. The best way to show what happened this year is through pictures because a picture paints a thousand words.

There are so many things that can come to one's mind when they think of campus life at Holmes Community College. There is something for absolutely everyone to be involved in. Whether you are an athlete or a scholar, Holmes has enough to keep you busy.

Phi Theta Kappa, the Student Government Association and the Holmes Ambassadors all offer students a chance to hone their leadership skills.

For the creative person, there is the Growl and Horizons staffs and the Creative Arts Club.

Many people refer to college as the most memorable years of their lives. The more activities students are involved in, the more memories they make to carry with them.

It is definitely a good idea to get involved in several of the activities. You can join a club that relates to your major or play intramurals just for the fun of it. Not only does joining organizations make it easier to meet people and make friends, but the activities are fun and participants have a great time.

There is no way to sum up all the events of the year with just words on a page. It takes more than that. It takes pictures because a picture paints a thousand words.

With the theme, "Broadway Lights," the 1996 Miss Holmes Community College Pageant provided an evening filled with beauty and excitement. Entertainment was provided throughout the evening by Miss Holmes 1995 Melyn Prewett, sophomore Josh Carroll and the master of ceremonies Doug Holland.

The competition consists of interview, swimsuit, evening gown and a variety of talents. The talent competition included vocalists, a percussionist, a twirler and a dancer. After the talent competition, the ladies modeled their evening gowns.

Mandy Grantham of Grenada was named Miss Holmes Community College 1996. Pacey Wiggington of Pickens won the first alternate spot while Melissa Norwood of Maben was named second.

In July, Grantham competed in the Miss Mississippi Pageant in Vicksburg, where she received a non-finalist talent award.

Dedication

To the board of trustees members, administration, faculty, students and supporters of Holmes Community College

Holmes Community College's mission statement reads: "Holmes, a comprehensive public community college located in the rolling hills of central Mississippi, provides innovative educational and cultural opportunities to its constituents. In an ever-changing world, the college seeks to prepare its graduates for university transfer or productive employment, as well as to provide opportunities for lifelong learning. Holmes, whose primary commitment is to excellence in all areas, offers affordable, equal access to higher education in an attractive, secure, multi-campus environment."

Without the people associated with Holmes Community College, including its board of trustees members, administration, faculty, students and supporters, this mission would simply be an empty ideal.

However, because of the dedication, cooperation and spirit felt by these groups, the charge is not an empty ideal, but rather a living mission that is carried out every day. From the classrooms to the boardroom, from the libraries to the laboratories, from the career center to the coliseum, the people associated with Holmes make a commitment that they adhere to each day to provide an excellent education to its students and serve its community as well.

Through the years, from Holmes' inception as an agricultural high school to its becoming a junior college and finally a community college, a spirit of closeness has permeated the college. Although the institution has grown in terms of student population and has expanded to include two satellite campuses, the feeling of collegiality and friendship has never diminished.

It is this atmosphere that encourages its students to excel in all realms, including the intellectual, the creative, the athletic and the technical, of the educational experience.

And so this yearbook, the 68th edition of Horizons, is dedicated to the board of trustees members, administration, faculty, students and supporters of Holmes Community College, for the dedication, cooperation and spirit they have exhibited throughout the years.

PICTURE of a President

Now in his eighth year as president of Holmes Community College, Dr. Starkey A. Morgan Sr. continues to paint a picture of Holmes that is constantly changing. It continues to grow and expand, not only in terms of numbers of students, but also in terms of facilities, services and achievement.

The colors that make up the palette of Holmes include academics, athletics, the arts, vocational-technical programs and industrial and community services. The success of Holmes in each of these different areas is another testament to the caliber of leadership provided by Morgan.

The facilities offered to Holmes' students continue to be improved and expanded. On the Goodman Campus, the Computer Technology Center, offering students access to state-of-the-art computers, was completed. The center is available to students in the evenings and has a full-time staff member as the facilitator.

On the Ridgeland Campus, a new science building is under construction. When complete, this facility will house two biology labs, a physics lab, a chemistry lab, a lecture hall, faculty offices and classroom space in its 17,000 square feet.

A number of computers have been added to the Grenada Center and a computer lab has been set up for students to use. The students may use the 10 computers and 10 printers for writing term papers, composing notes and other work related to their classes. Computers in the library offer students access to the Internet, opening endless possibilities for up-to-the-minute research.

A new science and technology course was added to the offerings on the Goodman Campus. The course, which is open to both academic and vocational/technical students, consists of both lecture and laboratory work. The lab, which is located in the vocational-technical building, provides the latest equipment for students to work on each of the nine modules including advanced computer applications; applied physics; biotechnology; electrical and electronic systems; introduction to automation; microcomputer assembly and operating system; multimedia communication; laser and fiber optics; and telecommunications.

In the extracurricular realm, Holmes continues to gain recognition.

Finishing with a 7-3 regular season record, the football team won the north half and played in the State Championship game for the first time in several years.

The Bulldogs were named runner-up for both the state trophy and the Region XXIII trophy.

The Concert Choir traveled to Spain, where they performed in Barcelona, Valencia and Llorete de Mar, Spain. The group spent many hours preparing for the journey, both rehearsing and raising funds. The trip provided an invaluable element to their educational experience.

Holmes' three chapters of Phi Theta Kappa, the international honor society for two-year colleges, continue to be active in activities on campus, with service projects off campus and attending regional and international conventions of the organization. All three of Holmes' chapters attained the Five-Star level of achievement, which is the highest awarded by international headquarters to the chapters for their involvement, activities and work toward the four PTK hallmarks as well as the honors topic and service project selected for the year.

Each individual, including students, faculty, staff members and administration, associated with Holmes makes up the picture of the college and is in part a reflection of the leadership of the institution. It is clear that the picture of Holmes painted by Morgan and reflected in the everyday activities of its students and staff is one that is both classic and contemporary, that has an appreciation of the past and an eye for the future and is ever-changing so that it will endure the test of time.

Going Modular

by Cindy McDaniel

This year is a new beginning for Holmes Community College. In addition to the well equipped facilities that Holmes already has, this year a new course and lab was added to the vocational center. This course is called science and technology.

This course consists of a minimum of 15 hours of lecture related activities, 60 hours of laboratory work, and carries three semester hours of credit.

In the laboratory portion of the course, students work in teams and rotate through nine modules which apply to real world situations.

"I like the course. It provides some experience in fields that many people know nothing about, like me," replied Misty Pigg when asked what she thought about the class.

The nine modules are: advanced computer applications; applied physics; biotechnology; electrical and electronic systems; introduction to automation; microcomputer assembly and operating systems; multimedia communication; laser and fiber optics; and telecommunications.

Christy Gatlin commented, "It's different. It goes through many different fields and the projects that we work with make the course more fun and interesting."

The students put computers together, upgrade computers, test DNA by fingerprinting, and do work on the C and C Milling Machine.

Some of the objectives for the course are to utilize technology systems to solve problems and promote critical thinking and to foster a problem centered approach to learning in the classroom.

Another objective is to apply technological processes within four career cluster areas, including agriculture / natural resources technology, business / marketing technology, industrial / engineering technology, and health / human resources technology.

Expanding space

In January, Ridgeland Campus students began conducting experiments, peering through microscopes and dissecting things in a brand new facility built behind Ridgeland Hall.

The 17,000 square foot science building includes two biology labs, a physics lab, a chemistry lab, a lecture hall, faculty offices and classroom space.

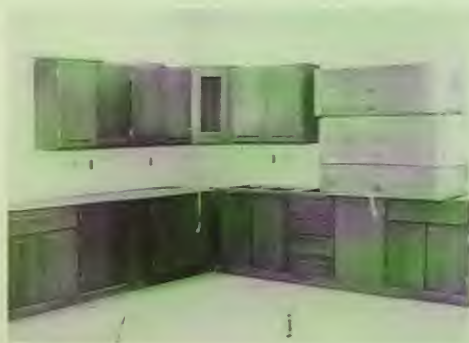

One of the main features of the building is a skylight located in the main hallway.

The building will be used by four full-time and three adjunct faculty members.

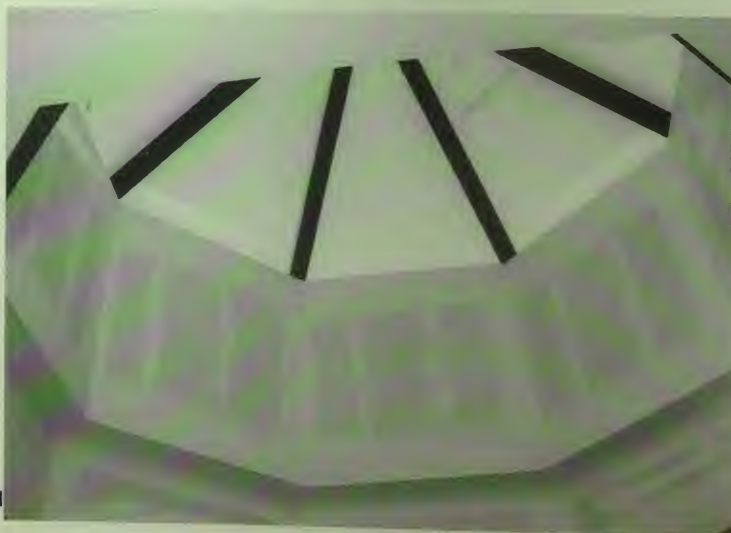

The architectural firm for the project was Johnson Bailey Henderson McNeel. Paul Jackson and Son Inc. was the contractor.

The building was opened for classes in January.

Going cyber

If a picture paints a thousand words, a picture of the Grenada Center would have to include the words "cyber," "gigabyte," "modem," "websurfing," and "Internet." Even if you don't really know what any of this means, take heart and take a mouse in your hand.

Just like June, computers are "bursting out all over" at the Grenada Center of Holmes Community College.

Computers have been an important part of college for a number of years, but recent acquisitions have put the Grenada Center of the cyber-edge.

Students have been able to use computers in the library to aid them with research for a number of years, but with the addition of computers which are linked to the world wide web, students can conduct research that is both more expansive and more timely.

The websites on the Internet are updated constantly so that the information gained from it is the most up-to-the-minute material available.

Students are not the only ones who have gained from the recent computer boom. The nursing faculty received a computer donated by the associate degree nursing 1996 graduating class.

"The computer was donated for the faculty to use in lecture and test development," said Joyce Vaughan, director of associate degree nursing at the Grenada Center.

Instructors in the science and social science departments have also received new computer equipment to use in the classroom. The computers can be hooked up to monitors so that what is being shown on the computer can be projected to the monitor and viewed by the entire class during lectures.

The Academic Computer Lab, containing 10 computers and 10 printers, has been set up in Room 201. Operating under the Windows 95 operating system, the computers have a number of different types of software, including Excel, Word and Powerpoint, loaded on them.

Students may use the computers to work on research papers and other class assignments.

Getting recognized

Six Holmes Community College sophomores were selected for the 1997 Mississippi All-State Academic Team sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa International Honor Society, the Mississippi Association of Community and Junior Colleges and The Clarion-Ledger.

Phi Theta Kappa, the Jackson-based international honor society for two-year schools, developed the plan to establish recognition in Mississippi similar to the Academic All-American Team for Two-Year Colleges sponsored by Phi Theta Kappa, USA Today and the American Association of Community Colleges.

Selection is based on information about their scholastic achievement, community involvement, leadership capabilities and college service activities.

In order to be considered, the students are also required to provide faculty recommendations and an essay they have written.

These six Holmes students were honored at a luncheon in Jackson along with the students selected from the other junior and community colleges in the state.

Lighting Lamps

by Amber Alexander

Six Holmes Community College instructors participated in the Lamplighter Project held in September at Copiah-Lincoln Community College. The Lamplighter Project is held annually and is sponsored by the Mississippi Community College Academic Dean's Association. This association selected these teachers in order to recognize and reward them for their effective teaching in community colleges. The Lamplighter Project gives instructors an opportunity to share with one another their teaching techniques that promote learning.

JEANETTE ALEXANDER

Ridgeland Campus

Jeanette Alexander is a business and office technology instructor for the Ridgeland Campus. She taught business on the high school level before coming to Holmes Community College.

Alexander received her A.A. from Holmes Junior College and her B.S. and M.Ed. from Mississippi State University. She is married to Robert Alexander, a retired district supervisor with Department of Vocational Rehabilitation. They live in Kosciusko.

JOYCE COLLINS

Grenada Center

As a business technology instructor, Joyce Collins teaches microcomputer applications, administrative office procedures, and business accounting at the Grenada Center.

She received her A.A. from Freed-Hardeman College, and her B.S. and M.Ed. from Mississippi State University. She also attended Delta State University and Harding College in Searcy, Arkansas.

Prior to coming to Holmes, Collins taught at Grenada High School.

She lives in Alva, near Duck Hill, with her husband Alan Collins and their children, Linda Gail and Wesley Alan.

TERRY COX

Goodman Campus

Terry Cox is an industrial education instructor for the Goodman Campus. He teaches graphic communication, engineering graphics, wood technology, basic electricity and electronics, general metals, and forging and welding. Cox received his A.A. from Holmes Junior College and his B.S. and Master's from Mississippi State University.

Previously, he was employed at New Albany public schools as an IED instructor.

Cox lives in Kosciusko with his wife Kathy, a fifth-grade elementary school teacher, and his two children, Neeli and John Reuben.

BETA KERAMATI Goodman Campus

Beta Keramati teaches physics and physical science on the Goodman Campus.

She was employed at Northhampton Community College in Pennsylvania before coming to work at Holmes.

Keramati received her B.S. from Lehigh University in Bethlehem, Penn., and her M.A. from Temple University in Philadelphia, Penn.

She and her husband, Kevin Martin, live in Goodman.

MARY ANN MAYHAN Grenada Center

A business technology instructor, Mary Ann Mayhan can be found at the Grenada Center. She received her B.S. from Blue Mountain College and her M.B.E. from the University of Mississippi. Before she came to Holmes, Mayhan was a teacher at Grenada High School. At Holmes she teaches business communication, document formatting, speedbuilding, and mechanics of communication.

Her son, Anthony, is a student at Mississippi College. Mayhan resides in Grenada.

DIANE STODDARD Ridgeland Campus

Diane Stoddard, a mathematics instructor at Ridgeland, teaches intermediate algebra, trigonometry, and the real number system.

Stoddard received her A.A. from Southwest Community College and her B.S. and M.Ed. from the University of Southern Mississippi. Prior to coming to Holmes, she taught at Callaway High School. Stoddard and her husband, Mike, live in Madison with their two children, Jennifer and Katherine.

Making H.E.A.D.W.A.E.

Higher Education Appreciation Day Working for Academic Excellence, also known as H.E.A.D.W.A.E., was organized to recognize outstanding faculty members and students from each college.

This year's honorees from Holmes Community College are Linda Lewis, a biological sciences instructor at the Grenada Center, and Kelly Bailey, a sophomore on the Goodman Campus.

Holmes' representatives are selected by a committee which is appointed by Dr. Starkey A. Morgan Sr., president of Holmes. Teachers are chosen on the basis of outstanding merit. The student is selected according to his or her grade point average and the difficulty of courses he or she is taking.

Linda Lewis

Linda Lewis teaches anatomy and physiology, microbiology and general biology at the Grenada Center of Holmes.

A native of Holcomb, she holds a bachelor's degree from Blue Mountain College and a master's degree from Delta State University.

Before coming to Holmes, Lewis taught biology at Charleston High School, where she was named Star teacher in 1981 and 1984. At Holmes, she was named a Lamplighter in 1991.

She and her husband, Gary, have two children,

David, a student at Delta State University and Leslie, a freshman at Grenada High School.

In addition to teaching, Lewis enjoys reading, gardening, music and working with computers.

Kelly Bailey

Kelly Jordan Bailey, the daughter of Frank and Sissy Bailey of Kosciusko, is a nursing major on the Goodman Campus of Holmes.

A President's Scholar, Bailey is a member of Phi Theta Kappa and was named to the President's List at Holmes.

She was also included in the National Dean's List. She is a member of the Holmes Community College Concert Choir and Coachmen and serves as captain of the cheerleading squad. She is also president of the Holmes Ambassadors student recruitment group.

A graduate of East Holmes Academy, Bailey plans to obtain her bachelor's degree in nursing and specialize in anesthesiology.

Each year the honorees of the H.E.A.D.W.A.E. program, which was organized in 1988 by state representative Cecil Simmons, are invited to spend the day at the State Capitol.

There, they are presented to the Senate and the House of Representatives and are also given a luncheon in their honor.

Representing Holmes

The University of Mississippi annually invites students from each community college in the state to participate in the Ken Wooten Scholars Bowl academic competition. This tournament includes two teams made up of four people who answer questions about math, science, literature, history, etc. for the chance to win scholarships.

A neutral person asks the questions while a panel of judges reviews the contestants' answers. Each round of questioning lasts 10 minutes, and the winner of each round advances in the bracket.

Goodman instructor Kimberly Stoker is the adviser for the Goodman Campus. This year's team includes Laura Heller, Daniel Blaylock, Mark Williams, and Dan Osborne with Danny Blanton and Anna Dendy as freshmen alternates. These alternates will return to next year's Scholars Bowl team.

The advisers for the Ridgeland campus team is Rus Bishop and John Switzer; their team includes Bill Peterson, Nicholas Beck, David Floyd, and Doug Doster.

Graduation exercises for the class of 1996 were held May 10 in the Frank B. Branch Coliseum on the Goodman Campus. Lt. Governor Ronnie Musgrove gave the Commencement Address.

Musgrove is a native of Panola County. He was born July 29, 1956. He is a graduate of Northwest Mississippi Junior College, The University of Mississippi, and The University of Mississippi Law School. He currently practices law with the firm of Smith, Musgrove, and McCord in Batesville. Before being elected to the office of Lt. Governor, he served two terms as state senator.

He is married to the former Melanie Ballard of Charleston. They have two children, Jordan, 10, and Carmen Rae, 7. Melanie is a teacher of Pope Elementary School, where her children attend.

Musgrove encouraged the 382 graduates to reach high for their goals. In his address at the 68th Commencement, he wished the class of 1996 the best of luck in their future plans.

Named valedictorians for the class of 1996 were Angela Abide, Ridgeland Campus; Julie Dollar, Ridgeland Campus; Misty Golden, Goodman Campus; Sara Ridgway, Ridgeland Campus; and Howaida Sharfeldin, Ridgeland campus. Debra Costilow was named the salutatorian of the class.

The M.C. McDaniel Award was given to Misty Golden of Benton and Suzanne Smith of Yazoo City. The Robert Cox Memorial Scholarship Award was given to Kimberly Richardson of Ridgeland.

The outstanding Phi Theta Kappan, Kappa Alpha Chapter, Goodman Campus, award was given to Terry Merchant. Outstanding Phi Theta Kappan, Alpha Mu Beta Chapter, Grenda Center, was given to Marilyn Grantham. Named Outstanding Phi Theta Kappan, Alpha Lambda Sigma Chapter, Ridgeland Campus, was Kimberly Richardson.

HOMECOMING 1996

Legacy of EXCELLENCE

By Amber Alexander

Homecoming week, which culminated with a 41-0 victory over Northeast Community College, was filled with many "colorful" memories. Ms. A's clues for the annual football search kept many students running all over campus; Walt Morgan and Joe Davis located the sought-after pigskin.

Over 250 students attended the Homecoming Dance, and many participated in dressing up for the special theme days such as Pajama Day, Hippie Day, and Mardi-Gras Day. Even a few members of faculty and staff showed their spirit by dressing up.

The HCC cheerleaders sponsored an awesome pep rally that began as a Mardi-Gras style parade which ended behind the football dormitory. Senator Tim Johnson then put on a show as "Elvis" for the crowd of excited Bulldog fans. The night concluded with a bonfire and the giving away of various prizes.

The Friday night before Homecoming was once again set aside to honor alumni. This included Alumnus of the Year, Distinguished Service Awards, Special Service Awards, and the HCC Sports Hall of Fame recipients.

Saturday's festivities included a special alumni luncheon, a Holmes Connection! performance, a pep rally in the Grove, and the presentation of Nicole Fuller, Homecoming Queen, and her court at half-time.

For the members of the 1996 Holmes community College football team, the season did not begin with the first kick-off in the game against East Central. Nor did it begin with the first two-a-day practice held under the blaze of the August sun.

It began in the hearts and minds of each individual player when he first picked up a football and felt the blood of a champion coursing through his veins.

Regardless of the final score, it was the blood of champions that was shed each time Holmes took the field. And while the team had its share of adversity, it surely defined the words "tenacity" and "perseverance."

After a season opening 13-7 loss to East Central, who went undefeated until they met Hinds in the last game of the regular season, the Bulldogs handled Southwest easily in their second game, sewing up a win with a score of 30-12. After a visit to Co-Lin left the Bulldogs with a 35-6 defeat, the season could have looked grim for most players.

However, the 1996 Bulldogs were not most players.

Rather than looking at their 1-2 start as a predictor of a less than stellar season, the squad picked up steam and rolled over their next six opponents, including Coahoma, Northeast, Jones, Mississippi Delta, Itawamba and Northwest, like a runaway train.

And it was this ambition and determination that set this team apart from the crowd of other community college squads as they won the North Division title.

The Bulldogs carried this ambition into the Hinds stadium with them as they squared off against a team that had captured the state trophy both in the 1994 and 1995 seasons. While the Hinds Eagles were looking for a three-peat, the Holmes Bulldogs were fighting for a trophy that had not found its way to Goodman for the past 15 years.

Although Hinds scored on their opening drive, it was not an easy score. Holmes' defense held the opposition, making them use 15 plays before a score could be posted on the board. The Bulldogs answered with a score on their opening drive. And they followed that up with another score on their next possession following a Hinds possession that netted the Eagles nothing.

The Eagles were able to get into the endzone with eight seconds remaining in the half and with a good PAT, they were able to tie the score, 14-14. Early in the second half the Eagles were able to again score a touchdown and point after, bringing the score to Eagles 21, Bulldogs 14.

However, the Bulldogs proved they were not willing to give up the trophy without a fight and, with the tenacity that had become their trademark, pushed on for another touchdown. And proving that they were a team not only capable of taking risks, but also of capitalizing on them, they tried and succeeded on a two-point conversion and brought the score to Bulldogs 22, Eagles 21.

An Eagles touchdown and unsuccessful PAT brought the score to Eagles 27, Bulldogs 22. There proved to be too little time for Holmes to answer with a touchdown and the state trophy that the Bulldogs had so doggedly fought for throughout the season slipped from their grasp.

For the players, the coaches and the fans, there are a thousand pictures that paint the 1996 season. And surely the culmination of that season, the state championship game, will be a picture that will remain in the memories of all of them long after the sound of the final buzzer fades away.

A Night on BROADWAY

By Julie Newton

On Monday, October 28, 1996, the Holmes Community College Beauty Review provided a night of fun, suspense and excitement as all three campuses participated. From the 30 contestants, 10 were selected as finalists and from those 10 contestants, four beauties and Most Beautiful were named.

The contestant that was chosen as Most Beautiful is Shelley Boggan, a sophomore on the Goodman Campus.

"Holmes is a great college with many wonderful people. It was an honor to be chosen as Most Beautiful," said Boggan.

The night, with the theme "A Night on Broadway," was indeed memorable and would not have been such a success without the help of director Kimberly Stoker and assistant directors Katrina Myricks and Linda Alexander.

"This is my first year to help put the Beauty Review together. I really enjoyed it. I was especially pleased by the changes we made from the years before. I feel confident that all three campuses were represented well. I want to thank everyone for all their time and services. I really look forward to helping with the Beauty Review next year," said Stoker.

From the parents, to the judges, to the contestants, it was a night that everyone will remember.

Each year new trends sweep the country—in fashion, music, movies, and even local pastimes. Many of these trends can be found on the Holmes campuses.

Fashion trends are the easiest to spot, and some of this year's included wide-legged jeans, tights with wind jackets, Adidas running shoes, strappy sandals, hiking boots, overalls (for men or women), flannel shirts, anything with a Nike swoosh on it, black cigarette pants, white button-up shirts, layered haircuts on girls, guys with longer hair (or no hair—like football and baseball players!), corduroy pants, Dr. Seuss hats, stick people jewelry, and baseball caps that have been cut along the seams and split open.

It is a well-known fact that music is constantly changing. However, some songs seem to go on and on... Sometimes these songs will even start a dance craze; of course, this year's hit "Macarena" by Los Del Rio would be such a song. Another popular dance song was "The Train" by the Quad City D.J.'s.

Female Performers were increasingly popular during the past year, offering a variety of styles and abilities. Alanis Morissette's "Ironie," Tracy Chapman's "Give Me One Reason," and Celine Dion's "It's All Coming Back to Me Now" were some favorites.

Rap also was very popular on campus this year. "Days of our Lives," by Bone and "Life Goes On," by 2PAC were two songs often heard on car stereos.

Other hits included songs from the movie Grease, and Adam Sandler songs.

It seems to have been trendy to make movies in Mississippi during the past year. "The Spitfire Grill," "The Chamber," "Ghosts of Mississippi," and "A Time to Kill" were all filmed on location in the state. Some Holmes staff and students even served as extras!

Special effects were trendy too, as evidenced by the hit movies "Independence Day," "The Flood," and "Twister."

Romance made a comeback with movies like "Up Close and Personal," "The Truth about Cats and Dogs," and "A Walk in the Clouds."

Some other things students enjoyed doing during their spare time included girls making signs for their friends to up in their rooms, guys making potato guns, hanging out on bridges, "mule-kicking," rollerblading, stealing a few private moments on the park benches, and just hanging out on the porch of Grenada Hall.

by Brandie Branch

It is said that leadership is an art which demands constant practice. Even today, our understanding of leadership and teaching of leadership is evolving. Thus, our leadership will continue to change in order to remain a state of the art to meet the needs of a rapidly changing society. There are many clubs that show leadership at Holmes, but the Baptist Student Union (BSU), Phi Theta Kappa (PTK), Student Government Association (SGA), and the Cheerleaders are the ones that show a large amount of leadership to the students of Holmes Community College.

These clubs that show leadership at Holmes are clubs that get really involve in showing great leadership and support to our students, faculty, and guests.

They let us know that there is and will always be a great need for leadership on the campus. To the students that participate in the clubs, they know what it means to have a good leader to carry out daily responsibilities of the club.

The Baptist Student Union shows leadership by having Tuesday Nights Together (T.N.T.),

Freshman Family, Dorm Devotions, and Sophomore Bible Study. These activities help students understand and learn more about the Bible. These club activities also help students learn more about themselves and other people on the campus. This club also help students become a leader for Christ to help other students learn more about the Bible.

*It is said that

Phi Theta Kappa makes three independent assumptions regarding leadership. First, within every individual there exists leadership potential. Second, leadership can be taught. Third, developing a personal leadership philosophy is a prerequisite to learning and applying leadership skills.

The Student Government Association probably shows more leadership of all the clubs on the campus. The SGA is a club that has students as its leaders. The students represent other students on the campus. These students are the mouths of hundreds of students who want to see change or improvements on the campus.

Kevin Cunningham, president of the Goodman Campus SGA, said, "As a club we try to encourage the students to participate in all the activities the SGA plans."

Since this is an election year, the SGA and PTK played it part in helping students to register to vote. "We held registration to all new and old students so they could be able to vote in the 1996 elections," said Cunningham.

Cheerleading may not be considered a club, but they do show leadership. The cheerleaders are leaders of school spirit. They lead the crowds in cheers and chants to show support to our football and basketball teams. So cheerleaders play a big part in leadership when it comes to sport leadership.

Kizzie Eskridge a sophomore cheerleader stated, "Cheerleaders play a big part in getting the crowd into the games. People may not think so, but cheerleaders are an important part of sports."

Many people may not think leadership is important, but if we didn't have leaders who would lead people who get lost in life and everything else.

So don't be misled about leadership, but join the leaders that are already doing something to make this campus a little better every day.

THE ARTS PAINT THE WAY

Holmes students who are artistically inclined have no trouble finding a creative outlet for expressing themselves. Whether it is through acting, singing, playing the trombone or writing, students find a number of ways to amuse and entertain themselves through the clubs and organizations associated with the arts.

Holme-Towne Players is an organization open to anyone interested in the dramatic arts. Along with Delta Psi Omega, which is an honorary fraternity for students who have participated in the requisite number of productions to earn membership, produce a play both in the fall and the spring semesters.

Those with a flair for dramatic reading are invited to read at the coffeehouses sponsored by Creative Arts Club, Phi Theta Kappa and the Student Government Association. Some students select some of their own poetry to read; others pick the work of someone else. Along with the readings, the coffeehouses feature musical entertainment as well as coffee and pastries.

The Creative Arts Club members also compete in an annual creative writing competition, with the winners from each of the three campuses having their works published in "Reflections," Holmes' literary magazine.

Students whose creative bent leans more toward journalistic writing can join the "Growl" and the "Horizons" staffs. The "Growl" newspaper staff reports on the happenings at Holmes each month. The "Horizons" yearbook staff gives an overview of the entire year for students to keep for many years to come. Staff members are able to enhance their writing talent as well as their talent for layout and design.

Students who have musical ability can join the marching band, the concert band, the jazz band, the steel drum band, the concert choir, The Holmes Connection! and Coachmen.

These groups perform at all kinds of events, ranging from halftime shows at football games to womanless beauty reviews to the Christmas and Pops Concerts. These groups often take their show on the road, performing throughout the state, particularly in Holmes' nine-county district.

The concert choir really took their show on the road this spring, performing in Barcelona, Valencia and Llorete de Mar, Spain.

The organizations at Holmes involving the arts require a lot of time, practice and hard work from those committed to the groups. But the reward these student receive is immeasurable. The arts paint the way for students to be involved, challenged and entertained.

A THOUSAND WAYS TO LEARN

by Amber Alexander

Not all of our collegiate learning experiences are found in the classroom. Education is at the core of many of HCC's club's and organizations. Advisers strive to create a learning environment within the realm of extracurricular activities.

Some of the most enlightening and enjoyable experiences of the Cosmetology Club are found in their observation and participation in some of the trendiest style shows in our region. Linda Hutchison, club sponsor and director of the program, enlists the expertise of representatives from nationally known hair care specialists. Learning professional practices and business ethics are also important. Cosmetology students spend endless hours (or so it seems) during the week working with the public—and trying to keep them happy! This year's class learned a lesson in teamwork as they supported their president, Melanie Wiltshire, in running for homecoming court. Another Goodman Campus cosmetology student, Ann Chisholm, proved that she was also on the winning track by finishing eighth at VICA nationals.

Region 8 of SME, which includes both student and professional chapters, covers Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and Tennessee.

Delta Epsilon Chi (DECA), an organization found on the Ridgeland Campus, utilizes a variety of ways to learn more about fashion merchandising, marketing, and cooperative education. Members have the opportunity to learn from seminars and state and national conferences. Freshly baked cookies were sold each week to help raise money for their trip to New York. This trip, a study tour, gave students the opportunity to observe the stock exchange, Fifth Avenue and other attractions.

The Industrial Education Club, under the guidance of HCC alumnus Terry Cox, uses participation in professional organizations and field trips to enhance the learning experiences of IED majors. They participate in blood drives, Sidewalk Cafe, have even adopted a stretch of Highway 51, and even built the sets for this year's beauty review!

The Math and Combined Sciences Club (MACS) is active on the Goodman and Ridgeland Campuses. This organization strives to enlighten students interested in math, biology, zoology, chemistry, physics, astronomy, and/or computer science. Members are encouraging others to protect the environment and keep our campuses clean. Club members have placed recycling bins all over all campus for our convenience.

A trip to the planetarium is at the top of a "things to do" list on the Goodman Campus. Also, special lectures and programs sponsored by MACS are open to all HCC students. Ridgeland MACS members included plans to tour Mississippi State University, University of Mississippi Medical Center, Indian Bluffs in Lexington, and the Museum of Natural Science in Jackson.

Phi Beta Lambda, an organization which promotes business leadership, also encourages additional learning experiences through participation in state and national competitions. Members compete in the spring of each year at the state level and the top two winners in each area attend the national conference. In order to finance these opportunities PBL sponsors several fund raisers—the most popular of which is their Sally Foster Gift Wrap sales. Also, PBL members learn about helping others by becoming involved in the Christmas House at the state hospital at Whitfield.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) were established for the purpose of encouraging the development of the "whole" student. VICA enables members enhance their social and leadership skills while learning the value of teamwork. This is exemplified in their annual performances at state and national competitions. VICA students also learn about giving back to the community with their continued work with the Mississippi Blood Services. Students and sponsors also work hard each fall in the concession stand at football games.

The Mississippi Student Nurses Association is a chapter of the national organization. M.S.N.A. strives to provide professional learning experiences, not only while enrolled at the Grenada Center, but throughout their nursing education. Despite heavy classroom and clinical schedules, M.S.N.A. members are very involved in extracurricular activities.

SPEAKERS GIVE WORDS OF ADVICE

by Shawna Leonard

Holmes Community College hosts many important speakers with great advice. The students and staff both enjoy the advice that the speakers have to give.

Some of our important speakers come from within the college, while others come from one of Holmes' three campuses only for a short while.

Dr. Starkey A. Morgan, president of Holmes Community College, often speaks both on and off team and the Student Government Association members.

The Holmes Ambassadors are a selected group of students who are always welcoming new students and visitors.

The Student Government Association plans many activities, such as cook-outs, dances, spring fling, and searches for everything from footballs to pumpkins to turkeys, that make campus life a lot of fun.

Conferences and other meetings bring speakers on campus to speak to a variety of different groups. The Women in Science and Technology Conference is an annual event that brings high school girls from throughout Holmes' nine county district to hear women involved in careers involving science and technology speak on their chosen professions.

Above. Representatives from the Grenada Public School System Lisa Merriman, (left) a counselor, and Barbara Huddleston, a HOST teacher, speak to the elementary education majors at the Grenada Center about mentoring and tutoring programs offered through the school system for which they need volunteers.

Speakers add another dimension to the learning that is already taking place in the classrooms, laboratories, shops and through the activities of the organizations on campus.

campus. He often has encouraging words for the students.

There are also important student speakers at Holmes including members of the Holmes Ambassadors student recruitment

Many of the clubs on campus invite speakers in fields related to the purpose of the group to help students learn more about the subjects in which they are interested.

A PICTURE PAINTS A THOUSAND WORDS

The picture of Holmes painted by the clubs and organizations is one of many colors: of arts and entertainment; of scholars and leadership; of skills and improvement.

The teaching and learning that takes place within the classroom is greatly enhanced by the activities of the extracurricular organizations.

The groups add greatly to the atmosphere of the campus, benefiting not only their members, but everyone on campus. Sidewalk Cafe, the band's halftime performance, and the plays produced by Holme-Towne players are just a few of the activities, events and performances the campus enjoys.

Clubs give students the opportunity to develop and use their leadership skills. By serving as officers in an organization or simply being active members, students learn skills, such as setting goals and delegating tasks, that they will use throughout their lives.

Speakers come to club meetings and provide expertise and insight into a particular field of interest. Students attend conferences and participate in competitions that help broaden their knowledge and test their abilities.

With a vast array offered, the extracurricular activities at Holmes Community College make up an important facet of the complete picture of the school.

Football team proves to have heart of champions

by Keshia Lindsey

The mighty Bulldogs of the 1996 season proved to be one of the best Holmes teams yet. They have definitely built up the team's reputation by being the first to win the North Division since 1988. Both coaches and players are proud of their season. The Bulldogs had a total of seven wins and three losses in the regular season. The team has been greatly supported during the football season by loyal fans and Holmes students.

Freshman Reginald Spencer of Canton, a tailback for the Bulldogs, said, "This has been one of the greatest teams yet to come out of Holmes. I'm proud to be a part of a hard working team along with my fellow players."

He believes that the hardest days were the days when they had their two-a-days, but he feels that this gave the team what it needed to be successful.

Sophomore Joe Davis, a defensive back, said, "This has been a great season for the Bulldogs.

Winning seven games and losing three made us the best in the North."

Davis said he is proud to be a part of this team once again and wishes the team the best of luck in the years to follow.

Freshman Derrick Walker of Canton, a defensive lineman, said, "The level of talent is great."

Walker added that he feels proud of being a part of a winning team and he feels as if this has been the greatest set of players to set foot on the field. He feels like this is a team born with a genuine talent for football.

David Washington, a freshman linebacker from Yazoo City, said, "This has been a great season and I hope that next year the team can do it once again, maybe even better."

Above. Alvin McKinley (#86) pushes back the Trojans.

Chris Avery of Grenada, a sophomore defensive end, said, "The team has had a lot of potential along with a lot of good coaching."

Avery said his favorite thing about the season is that they are the Northern Champions.

Kevin Heard of Eupora, a sophomore wide receiver, said, "This has truly been the greatest season for the Bulldogs in years. As the years pass I hope to keep on increasing the level of talent of young men doing something positive with their time."

Men's basketball team shows Bulldog power

by Yolanda Washington

The Bulldogs season started off on a good trail with their first win over Mary Holmes. The score was Bulldogs, 100, Mary Holmes, 69. That did not stop the Bulldogs because they went on to get another win over Hinds. The Bulldogs had quite a struggle when they met with Co-Lin but pulled it off with a 65-64 win. They had three more victories over Hinds, Southwest, and Mary Holmes. The Dogs winning streak came to an end when they traveled to Wesson to take on Co-Lin but brought back a loss.

The leading scorers for the Bulldogs are Shawn Stewart, a sophomore from Kilmicheal with 17 points per game and Derek Dory, a sophomore from Vaughan with 4.8 points per game. Leading the Bulldogs in rebounds is Eric Jackson, a freshman guard from Canton.

The Bulldogs head coach Bennie Kimble said, "This is a good group to work with. We are young and playing hard and should improve as the season progresses."

The Holmes Bulldogs team for 1996-97 consists of 15 members. They are Chris Adams, a 6'5 fresh-more point guard from Vaughan; Dale Edwards, a 6'2 freshman guard from Yazoo City; Mario Edwards, a 6'2 freshman guard from Yazoo City; Eric Jackson, a 6'3 freshman guard from Canton; and Kirby Loupe, a 6'2 sophomore guard from Thibodaux, La.

Each player has given their best to the team in their own way. Shawn Stewart was named leading scorer and leading rebounder. He was most concerned about remaining consistent in every game.

"As a freshman I try to be consistent in every game and give 110% to the game," said team member Eric Jackson.

Lady Bulldogs basketball team hustles on the court

With a determination to prove that they are a force on the court, the Holmes Community College Lady Bulldogs jumped out to a 3-0 start for the 1996-97 season.

Elizabeth Mosby, 6'0 center who played prep ball at Canton Academy, came into her sophomore season like gangbusters, putting 30 points on the board in the opening game against Mary Holmes.

As a freshman, Mosby averaged 14.5 points per game and 6.5 rebounds per games. She was named the team's Most Valuable Player and earned second team All-State honors.

Mosby was certainly not the only star player on the squad. A number of talented basketball players contributed to the success of the team. A standout among the players known more for their defensive moves was Jennie Blackwell, also a sophomore on the team.

A 5'8 point guard from Madison-Ridgeland Academy, she was voted the Lady Bulldogs' best defensive player as a freshman after a season in which she blocked 15 shots and had 43 steals. She was also the leader in assists, averaging 5.3 assists per game. This average ranked in the top five in Region XXIII.

And Blackwell is not without scoring ability either; she scored 15 points in a game against the Lady Wolves of Copiah-Lincoln Community College.

When the Lady Bulldogs need a three-point shot to hit the mark, the go-to girl is often Suzy 7.7 rebounds per game, gaining her the top rebounder spot on the squad.

Another high scorer on the squad is Kellie Milner, who transferred to Holmes from the University of Southern Mississippi. A 6'0 wing/post from Madison-Ridgeland Academy, Milner often went into double digits, scoring 13 points in Holmes' first game and 16 points in Holmes' second game of the season.

Freshman Laura Coleman, a 6'0 center who played for Manchester Academy in high school, certainly made her presence felt on the court. She scored 18 points in only her third time to play in a college game.

Another freshman not intimidated to play on a college court was Tracy Davis, a 5'9 forward from Durant, who gave the Lady Bulldogs 18 points in a game against Southwest.

Rounding out the Lady Bulldog squad were freshmen Jacy Mussman, a 6'4 center from Victoria, Texas; Latonya Cooper, a 5'5 guard from Grenada; Bethy Edwards, a 5'7 guard from Central Holmes Academy; Emily Harber, a 5'3 guard from Benton Academy; Holly Heustis, a 5'5 guard from New Orleans, La.; Erika Williamson, a 5'4 guard from Grenada; and Emily Parks, a 5'6 guard from Manchester Academy.

Grantham, whose freshman average from behind the line was 40 percent. A 5'0 wing, Grantham played high school ball at Canton Academy.

Felicia Arrington returned to the squad after establishing a reputation in the rebound arena. As a freshman, her average was

Holmes cheerleader squad works hard to help teams win

by Valerie Browning

The Holmes Community College cheerleaders, sponsored by Audra Love Kimble, had a good start this year. They keep the students pumped up for the pep rallies and the football and basketball games. The cheerleaders work very hard and practice everyday at from 3:30 until 5:00 in the afternoon.

They began practicing during the summer and they attended camp at the University of Alabama. At the camp, the Holmes squad won four blue ribbons and trophies for first place in the cheer competition and third place in the sideline competition. They also received the Crowd Leadership Award along with Alabama State University and Louisiana State University.

In addition to cheering during the games, the cheerleaders also support the teams by holding pep rallies. During football season, the cheerleaders held a pep rally each week. The themes for them ranged from beach party to Woodstock to Bulldog Olympics to country/western. For homecoming, they held a pep rally with a Mardi Gras theme, complete with a Mardi Gras parade leading up to the bonfire pep rally.

Before the bonfire was lit, the crowd was thrilled with a performance of the King of Rock and Roll himself.

Although many of Holmes' co-eds tried to get on stage to be close to the King, they were thwarted by the bodyguards.

Audra Love Kimble, who serves as sponsor for the cheerleaders, said, "School spirit has been the best this year that it has been in many years and that makes our job a little easier. We really appreciate all of the support that the student body gives the cheerleaders and other athletic squads."

Diamond Dogs prove they have what it takes to be best in field

by Shawna Leonard

The picture painted by the 1997 Diamond Dogs is one of hard word and dedication. Not only does the Holmes baseball team have an outstanding team they also have a great coaching staff. The team is led by head coach Quinby Morgan and assistant coach Kenny Dupont. This marks the sixth year Morgan has been with the team and the second year for Dupont.

Baseball is a very important sport here at Holmes. Although most people associate baseball with the spring, the team also plays some games during the fall semester.

The team spends a lot of time throughout the year practicing. They practice most every day from 1:00 p.m. until 5:30 p.m.

Although the professional baseball players may worry about contract negotiations and free agency, Holmes' team exemplifies what the All-American sport is all about: playing for the love of the game.

It is this love of the sport that fuels their desire to be the best in their field.

Two of HCC's baseball players have proven that they have what it takes. Roy Oswalt, a sophomore from Weir, has signed with Ron Polk 81 strikeouts.

Shane Trosclair, a sophomore from Thibodaux La., has signed with Southeastern Louisiana University in Hammond, La. He also did an excellent job during the 1996 season, earning an ERA of 1.11, with 77 strikeouts.

The entire 1996 team proved they had what it takes by overcoming a slow start to finish second in the north half and earn a slot at the Region XXIII tournament. It was the first time the maroon-and-white of Holmes had earned such a position.

Baseball is a sport that requires a lot of dedication from all the players. Holmes shows that teamwork is the key to a successful team.

The picture of Holmes would not be complete without athletics. And the picture of Holmes' athletics would not be complete without baseball. Picking up full swing where basketball leaves off, baseball is an important part of the athletic department at Holmes.

It is a spring tradition that the picture of Holmes would be incomplete without.

Tennis is a well-rounded sport. It requires strong physical as well as mental abilities. It certainly requires endurance, conditioning, concentration and coordination.

After coaching tennis for six years, Audra Kimble, who led the women's team, and Robert Harris, who was in charge of the men's side of the squad, are passing on the torch to Tony Cook.

Now in his second year at Holmes, Cook serves as an assistant football coach for the Bulldog football squad.

Tryouts were held and practices began right after classes started in January.

Returning to the women's squad were Elizabeth Mosby and Kellie Milner.

Mosby, who received the Most Improved Player award her freshman year, and Milner, who gar-

Returning to the men's team for the second year were Mark Williams, who was named Most Improved Player as a freshman, Kenny Steed and Allen Barlow.

New to the squad were Kristy Lowe, Tyson Pannell, Jennifer Davis, Adam Boggan, Ellis Harris, Elizabeth Schur, Lucy Hall, Suzanne McCormack and Jay Kyle.

The squad played approximately 10 matches during the season, which began in early March and concluded with the state tournament in late April.

Lady Bulldogs softball team shines on field, in classroom

by Brandie Branch

Going into the '97 season Coach Dan Edwards, who heads up Holmes' women's softball program for the fourth year, hoped the team would be number one and beat the win/lost record set last year's Lady Bulldogs team.

Last season, the Lady Bulldogs made it to the state playoffs and were one of eight teams in the country to be invited to the national contest. The invitation was extended because they played against so many top teams from Alabama and Mississippi.

The 1996 team was also recognized for their academic achievements. The Lady Bulldogs won the top honor nationally as the academic slowpitch team of the year. The recognition, which was awarded by the National Junior College Athletic Association, was garnered on the basis of the team's overall 3.29 grade-point average, the nation's highest.

Five members earned membership in Phi Theta Kappa, international two-year community college academic honor society; and two team members, Candice Edwards and Kellie Carver, earned Academic All-American status.

Three players that will be missed are Candice Edwards, Ginger Cochran, and Jamie King. They will be missed because of their efforts and abilities to show good team spirit and sportsmanship. "We lost three outstanding players and they were our three best hitters and three best ball players," said Coach Edwards.

Although these three will certainly be missed by the Holmes contingent, the team will not be totally lost of experienced talent. Six sophomores from last year's squad will be returning to lead the Lady Bulldogs.

One of these from whom Coach Edwards expects great things is Jennifer McWilliams from Yazoo City, MS. Having played prep ball at Manchester Academy, she was a starting pitcher as a freshman at Holmes.

Other returners include Susanne Dickerson from Sallis. Dickerson is a first baseman from French Camp Academy. Suzy Grantham from Canton is also a returner. Grantham played a second baseman at Canton Academy. Winona native Candace Parker, who started at the second baseman position as a freshman, returned to that position this year.

The sophomores on the team were joined by some talented freshmen. Freshman Holly Heustis of Harrihan, La., was all-division playing fast pitch softball in high school.

Former Manchester Academy player Emily Parks of Yazoo City is a shortstop and powerful hitter. Beth Edwards from Central Holmes Academy is another newcomer. Another Central Holmes Academy graduate, Stephanie Taylor, who placed second in the state in the 100-yard dash in high school, joins the Holmes squad.

Other incoming freshman, including Kristen Austin from Canton Academy; Melissa Singletary and Amie Russell, both from Kosciusko High School and Lataunya Alexander from Yazoo City High School.

Holmes cross country, track teams compete in nationals

by Ginny McGlothin

To say the Holmes Community College Track and Cross Country teams had an great year is an understatement.

Cross country, only in its second year of existence, is coached by Elton Wright, a former runner with years of experience. Running must "run" in the family because Wright's son, Sam, is the cross country coach at Hinds Community College.

The Bulldog "Harriers" once again went to Nationals. This years Nationals were held in Hagerstown, Md.

The team, led by Tim Henson, Allen Barlow, Shane Smith, Daniel Johnson, and Mark Williams finished 14th in the nation.

There are not many students going out for cross country because boys run five miles and girls run three miles. However, two ladies, Evelyn Kelley and Sarah Davis ran for Wright.

Freshman Sarah Davis said that Coach Wright is the best coach that she has ever had. She also said that cross country teaches endurance in that you always improve with hard work and dedication.

The entire cross country team exemplified this past year what it takes to be superior.

The 1996 track team also had

an outstanding season. The five-member team competed in 16 events in the state competition. With a score of 44 points, they finished second among all community colleges in the state.

Kevin Heard placed first in the long jump, second in the high jump and the triple jump.

Tim Henson placed first in the 1500-meter. Waldell Harp, Rico Ferguson, Kevin Heard and Leon Washington made up the 400 meter relay squad and placed third in the state.

Heard finished seventh overall at the national track meet.

The 1997 track and field season promised to be more impressive than last year, and the team definitely gave 100 percent.

Track is once again coached by Alex Tsema, and he is assisted by his wife, Luba. Luba competed in the 1996 Olympics that were held in Atlanta as a member of the Russian team.

Luba ran in two preliminary heats and she came back to Holmes an Olympic hero. Luba's example should inspire anyone to go after a dream, and not stop until they achieve it.

With excellent runners and great coaches, track and field is once again an important sport here at Holmes Community College.

Golf team members enjoy sport of concentration, precise examination

by Emily Castillo

The majority of people dread the thought of sports because they believe it requires them to get drenched in sweat and eventually have every muscle in their bodies aching and sore. Golf, however, is a sport that may require some sweat but it mainly requires a lot of careful thinking, precise examination and concentration.

Golf is a game played with a very small ball and various clubs on a course having 9 to 18 holes. The golfers at Holmes Community College, who are coached by Gary Sheppard, practice at the Holmes County Country Club in Lexington and several other courses throughout the state. Some of the other courses the Holmes golfers have tried their skills on include Kosciusko Country Club in Kosciusko, Benton Country Club in Benton, Winona Country Club in Winona, Canton Country Club in Canton and LeFleurs Bluff Course in Jackson.

Golf season is the shortest season played here at Holmes. As result, our golfers only play seven tournaments that are played between March 17 and April 22.

Holmes Community College has had a golf team for about seven years now. Three out of these seven years the team has been coached by Gary Sheppard who is also the Holmes band director. During the first semester of '96-'97, the golf team won their practice round by ten strokes in Wolfhollow golf course at Copiah-Lincoln Community College in Wesson, taking 50 strokes of the score of last year.

Ackerman native Kent McLeod, the only returning sophomore on the Holmes team, played at Ackerman High School and led his team to their 1995 state championship.

Also on the Holmes team were Steve Chambliss, Shaw Nickels, Chris Herring, Clay Neely and Gabe Alaniz.

Also an Ackerman native, Chambliss led the Ackerman High School golf team to take the runner-up spot in state tournament play.

"Golf is a game of the extremes. It is exactly opposite of all other sports. We have the fewest team members the fewest number of competitions, we shoot for the lowest score and we use the smallest ball than you've ever seen in any other sport. Now, why do we have the largest coach?" said Gary Sheppard.

What words of advice would you give a friend coming to Holmes?

Name: Audrey M. Murrell
 Age: 33
 Class: Freshman
 Hometown: Clinton
 Major: Nursing
 Campus: Ridgeland

"Be prepared to study hard. Always go to your instructors for help. I have learned they really are willing and want to help you, that is if you are having trouble with a particular course. If you are uncertain about your major or course of study, Holmes has counselors who will give you all the assistance and guidance you need. I even liked the way they tested you in English and math before placing you in a class you may not qualify for."

A Thousand Words

by Julie Newton

There are many things to think about when looking back over the past year. It has been full of excitement, disappointment, laughter, tears and all the other things that make one's life complete. One thing that you will not be able to recall is a dull moment.

From the Back to School Dance in August until graduation in May there is always something going on at Holmes Community College. Whether you were watching Bully attack the football players or giving your money to help send the choir to Spain, everyone has been involved in one way or another. Even all the people who played detective while looking for a pumpkin or wore their pajamas and house shoes to class during Homecoming Week added their little spice to campus life.

As you can see, this year's theme for the yearbook is A Picture Paints a Thousand Words. The photographs in this book represent the many of the activities that took place throughout the year. By looking at each picture you can recall activities that took place and emotions that you felt during each event.

So when you want to remember this year at Holmes Community College, you can just open this book and look at the pictures of yourself, your friends, your instructors and others you met while at Holmes. After all, a picture is worth a thousand words.

Editor's Letter

by Amber Alexander

The 1996-1997 school year has been a very thrilling one for me. Taking on the job of editorship of this yearbook has at times seemed impossible, but it has always proven to be enjoyable and much more fulfilling than I had ever dreamed it would be.

The Horizons staff and I chose the theme "A Picture Paints A Thousand Words" because it is so much easier to explain how we feel about Holmes with pictures than to try to write all our thoughts on paper. I hope each picture you looked at on the previous pages brought back a warm memory that was made while you were at HCC.

I must thank my very dedicated, hard-working staff for the many stories and layouts you have spent so much time on. Julie, Shawna, Brandy, Emily, Ginny, and Christy; I have truly valued your input and also your friendship throughout the past year. Every yearbook meeting was fun with you there! I must also thank Yolanda, Keisha, Valerie, and Robbie for all the hard work you did first semester.

Mrs. Blanton, you have been the most patient, caring, devoted sponsor I could have ever asked for. Thank you so much for believing in my ability to handle such an important responsibility. I appreciate your faith in me with all of my heart. I still don't know how you make all of this look so easy. I also want to thank you for the thoughtful snacks, especially the cheesecakes!

To my mother, Linda Alexander, thank you for all of your support. There's no way I could have made it through this year without you. I hope next year doesn't fly by quite as fast! I Love You!!

To all of the HCC students, thank you for making this a memorable year. I hope that as you flip through the pages of this book, whether it is tomorrow or years down the road, it will help you to remember your life at Holmes.

Colophon

Holmes Community College's 1997 Horizons, Volume 68, consists of 240 pages on a 9 X 12 format. The book contains 80# paper and a Smyth binding. There are 24 color pages.

The 1,400 copies of the book were printed at Taylor Publishing Co., Inc., in Dallas, Texas. The sales representative was Ben Allen. The in-plant representatives were Melody Lundquist and Toni Wood.

The cover consists of a Skivertex base with a wrinkle grain and an embossed metalique silver design. The endsheet is birch with midnight blue #17. The cover and endsheets were designed by Caron Blanton and graphic artist April Ford.

All pages were composed on a Power Macintosh 6100/66 using PageMaker 6.0. Aldus Freehand 4.0 was used for the cover, endsheet and division page designs. WordPerfect 3.0 was used for writing and editing copy for the publication. Pages were submitted to the plant on a SyQuest disk for output directly to a negative.

Fonts used include Alpist for headlines, AlpistPrimer for sub-heads, New Century Schoolbook for body copy and captions, and Laurell for pull quotes.

The spot color used throughout the book was midnight blue #17.

Portrait photographs were taken by Mississippi School Pictures, Inc., Jackson, Miss.

The viewpoints represented in this yearbook are solely of the staff and in no way intend to reflect college policy.

*Wishing Hard For Success
Won't Make It Happen...
But Working Hard Just Might.*

Within the halls of Holmes Community College, there lies the secret to success...students who work hard, remain dedicated and have the necessary desires for achievement. Through these qualities, success is assured.

But, as with all structures, these halls, and these students, must have support...outstanding professors and administrators who provide students with the knowledge needed to succeed.

Mississippi Chemical is also proud to provide support to the students, professors and administrators of Holmes Community College. Congratulations to all who have worked hard to ensure the institution's tradition of success.
